ANOTHER SHOE FACTORY FOR NORWAY

Representatives of the Woodlast Shoe Manufacturing Co. closed a deal Tuesday for a factory building, which will bring into town a live industry, backed by almost unlimited capital. It is a sure thing and a genuine boom along the whole line is predicted.

Within an hour of the arrival of the representatives, the building and lot on Marston street, owned by C. N. Tubbs and W. S. Pierce, formerly occupied by the Oxford Knitting Co., with contents, was sold and the legal formalities closed and sealed. Louis Briggs and attorney, with other Boston and New York parties, then looked the village over with an eye for the future. If reports are true, within three months the "old pancake shop" will be completely changed within and without and all equipped for the manufacture of shoes. More than one hundred hands will find employment on the start.

The Company have been chartered to make and distribute a waterproof canvas and leather-aid shoe, with wooden soles and rubber heels. The article is fully protected by patents. It has been reported advance sales indicate that the concern can keep a large force busy every week in the year, turning out goods of this particular type.

Dismantling the Oxford Knitting Co.'s machinery will commence at once and the rush to install the new plant will soon be under full swing.

It is said that a spur track will be laid over the old road bed once used by the tannery, from the Norway branch to the building, to facilitate the present construction and aid in handling cheaply machinery and materials later on. Reliable reports from inside sources indicate the location is only temporary, and a large factory on another lot may spring up before many months. It is not altogether an idle dream that this corporation may erect cottages for their employees, and furnish similar advantages offered the vast army of workers in other lines controlled by the Dupont Co., which is said are behind this enterprise.

Arthur Hebbard figured largely in this deal and in a peculiar way. Mr. Hebbard's cottage at Old Orchard, and one owned by a prominent representative adjoin. The men were lounging over a smoke talk Saturday evening in Mr. Hebbard's cozy seaside home, and during the free-and-easy chat it came out that this concern was bargaining for a factory in a Maine town. Mr. Hebbard followed the cue, and extolled the possibilities which Norway has for this business. The representative grasped the situation and agreed to look into the matter early in the week. A wire was sent to headquarters to hold up on the other deal until Norway had been investigated. The gentlemen arrived in due time, and with Mr. Hebbard, took up the trail which resulted in a rapid fire trade of the spot cash variety. Was this just luck, chance, or destiny that paved the way for the chain of circumstances leading to a business which may give Norway a larger spot on the map?

Violet Shower

The Swastika Club was pleasantly entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Charlotte W. Lovejoy on Main street. At eight o'clock a bountiful supper was served consisting of consomme, hot rolls, cold ham, fruit salad, ice cream and fancy crackers. At the table, plates were set for ten and at each place was a hand painted place card bearing a number for later use.

After the supper the large "Swastika pudding dish" was brought in with fancy decorations from which were ten tabs, each bearing a number which corresponded to the numbers on the place cards. Each pulled her souvenir except Annie L. Whitehouse, who received a half dozen solid silver teaspoons, the gift of the Swastika Club, and at the same time a shower of confetti from all sides fell upon her. She was also presented with several other gifts from members of the club.

The supper and shower was arranged by Charlotte W. Lovejoy and Mercy E. Millett. Mrs. Harriot Porter attended to the decorations. The rooms were tastily decorated with violets.

ELECTRIC CAR ROAD HEARINGS

In accordance with the instructions of the citizens of Norway and South Paris, as expressed at a recent meeting held at the Court House, a conference between the representatives of the citizens and of the Oxford Electric Company with the Public Utilities Commission, was held at the State House, Augusta, Tuesday, May 20, 1919. The citizens were represented by Albert J. Stearns, Esq., B. G. McIntire and Eugene N. Swett. The Paris representatives, who were understood to be Alton C. Wheeler, Esq., Perley Ripley and George F. Eastman, not finding it convenient to be present, delegated the Norway conferees to speak for them.

The Oxford Electric Company was represented by its counsel, Wadleigh B. Drummond, Esq., and Fred D. Gordon, General Superintendent. The Commission had a letter from Governor Cobb, stating his inability to be present, and delegating full authority to his counsel and Mr. Gordon to speak for the Company.

After a full discussion of the propositions made by the Company, the counter-propositions made in behalf of the citizens, and the suggestions of the Public Utilities Commission, a new proposition was submitted, as follows:

Mr. Giddings, Clerk of the Public Utilities Commission, with Mr. Bean, its engineer, would come to Norway, Friday, May 23rd, 1919 with Mr. Gordon, look over the road-bed, check up Mr. Gordon's estimates on cost of rehabilitating the road, and report to the citizens of these communities forthwith the result of these observations, giving a rough estimate of probable cost—one set of figures based upon heavy traffic and a permanent first-class job; another set based upon cheaper construction—the citizens to raise one-half the amount necessary to rehabilitate the road, not exceeding $10,000, and to receive therefor preferred stock of the Oxford Electric Company; the present preferred stock of the Company, issued in payment of the Mechanic Falls plant, $30,000, to be cancelled and new preferred stock issued for such an amount as would be necessary to cover the present $30,000 and such additional new money as should be put into the rehabilitation of the road, this preferred stock all to bear 6 per cent. interest, which should be cumulative, and that the stock issued to the citizens should be retired within a period of fifteen years at par; that there should be no dividends whatsoever on the $50,000 of common stock of the Company until the preferred stock held by the citizens is retired.

As an alternative the Company would issue second mortgage, fifteen year, bonds for the new money necessary for rehabilitating the road, which would be a second lien on the property of the Oxford Electric Company, to bear six per cent. interest, which would be paid, if earned, after the payment of interest on all first mortgage bonds and six per cent. on the preferred stock of the Company now outstanding, above referred to.

The Committee asked for only five days within which to present this matter to the citizens, and agreed at the expiration of that time to report to the Public Utilities Commission whether either of these propositions would be accepted, and it was further understood that should they be turned down, the citizens would forthwith expect from the Public Utilities Commission a final decision and decree which has been with-held pending these negotiations.

The Company insisted that this was as far as they would go, under the circumstances, and the Committee assured both the Company and the Commission that the citizens would either accept one of these propositions or proceed with the fight to a finish.

A public meeting will be held at the Court House, Friday evening, May 23rd, 1919 at 7.30 to hear the report of the engineer of the Public Utilities Commission, after which it is expected that he and Mr. Gordon will retire and the meeting will then consider the propositions and take final action. This should be a largely attended meeting, and this is an invitation for every citizen of Norway and Paris to be present, as it is evident that negotiations are practically at an end.

The late Lorenzo Hathaway, father of George F. Hathaway, chairman of the board of selectmen, and the late Charles L. Hathaway, built the Charles A. Richardson residence destroyed by fire last summer. The buildings were erected in 1861 and the Hathaway boys lived there under the paternal roof until early manhood. Since that time the place has had several owners. Recently a paper carried by the wind from the ruins to Clarence DeCosta's yard adjoining, proved to be a letter written by Lorenzo Hathaway in 1862, to his son, Charles Hathaway, who was serving with the twenty third Maine Regt. George Hathaway has the treasure, and prises it highly, for its strange appearance and its association.

Judge C. F. Whitman's two story combination garage and office building will be completed before many weeks if the contractor, Charles Frost, has his way. The building is located about a rod west of the Whitman residence on Crescent street. As the Judge remarked "It will be a thing of beauty and a joy for ever."

The knights rank was conferred upon two candidates at the regular meeting of Lake Temple, Pythian Sisters, Tuesday evening. A buffet lunch followed the work. An invitation has been extended Echo Temple, Bridgton; Craigie Temple, Oxford; Minnehaha Temple, East Stoneham, and Hamlin Temple, South Paris, to meet here Tuesday evening, June 3. Supper will be served at 6.45 followed by the regular work and entertainment. The reception committee includes Mrs. Geneva Partridge, Mrs. Emma Buck, Donold B. Partridge and William H. White.

Arthur Parker, who is employed with the Brown Lumber Co. and located at the "Diamond," is home with his family for a short time.

Rev. M. O. Baltzer will deliver the Memorial Day address at Oxford. He has also been chosen to preach the baccalaureate sermon by the senior class of Norway High.

Harry Rust W. R. C. held a meeting Thursday evening at Woodman Hall. Two candidates were taken into membership, and several applications received. It was voted to commence the meetings during the summer months at 8 o'clock, changing from 7.30. The Mystery Box fell to Mrs. Annie Frost.

Since May 30 of last year, things have happened to give this day a new significance in many thousand of American homes. How rarely a heart, without its own sad Memorial Day! Yet one day in the year is sacred to the memory, only, of those heroes who gave their lives in '61-'65 that their nation might live. "To Perpetiate the memory of our heroic dead." Since the days of '66 when, in a little town in New York state, a few veterans, with appropriate ceremonies, strewed with flowers the gaves of their comrades, this beautiful custom dates. Now, a yearly memorial made permanent by an order issued in '68 by National Commander General John A. Logan, designating May thirtieth as Memorial Day, and it was with "The hope that it would be kept from year to year while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of the departed comrades." The thought of the thousands of little crosses above American soldiers in France carries the answer of the perpetuity of the day being observed for all time as sacred to the memory of those men who fought the battles and won the victories of the Nation. It is most fitting that the Nation should pause in its pleasures and its labors, to pay respect to the remaining veterans, who, with ranks constantly thinning, place their tributes of honor and live on the graves of their comrades—graves that each year finds swiftly increasing. It is also fitting, that the Soldier Boys, recently returned from overseas and the training camps, and those who are still in the service during these days of reconstruction, should participate in the services of both Sunday and Memorial Day, in honor to their fallen comrades, who gave up their lives in service overseas, or were taken by illness in the training camps in this country. Flags on Memorial Day should be placed at half staff in the morning and remain so until noon, when they should be hoisted to full staff for the remainder of the day. This applies to flags on a pole.

The members of the Corps, the D. A. R. and the D. of V. will meet at the home of the Corps president, Mrs. Annie E. Beck, Whitman street, Tuesday afternoon and evening, May 27 to make wreaths. Over 150 wreaths have to be made. All who can are asked to gather trailing evergreen for this purpose, which can be left at the home of Mrs. Beck.

Elizabeth Crockett Blake Tent No. 8, Daughters of Veterans will meet in regular session Friday evening when there will be work. Refreshments will be served after the business session.

Hosea P. Aldrich

Hosea P. Aldrich of Somerville, Mass., was laid to rest in Norway Pine Grove Cemetery on Wednesday.

Mr. Aldrich, who was well known 60 to 30 years ago as an inventor of shoe-making machinery, died Sunday night at his home. He was the son of Hosea and Mary Eliza (Chard) Aldrich, and was born at Willington, Conn., Sept. 8, 1834. He was a farmer's son, but learned the shoemaking and machinist trades.

The Civil War found him located in Spencer, Mass., where he invented a machine for sewing of the sides of long-legged boots, then in common use. Military authorities have stated that that machine was an important factor in the equipping of the Northern troops for winning the war.

Shortly after the Civil War, he moved his business to Boston, and opened a machine shop on Hawkins street. He manufactured the machines which he invented, and the specialty was the one which sewed with waxed thread. Lawsuits over patents were a feature of his life there, and he had many patents which others were tempted to infringe. Some 18 years ago he moved his shop to Charlestown, and did a small machinist business there until he retired in September, 1917. For many years he made a specialty of model making and turned out many hundred working models of all sorts of inventions.

On locating in Boston, he established his home in East Somerville, on Broadway, and a few years later moved to 86 Mount Vernon street, East Somerville, where he resided 43 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lucy C. (George) Aldrich, who was a daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Willard C. George of Norway; three children, Prof. Willard C. Aldrich of Port Deopsit, Md.; Mrs. D. Cromett Clark of 86 Mount Vernon street, Somerville, and Guy B. Aldrich of New York city; one sister, Mrs. Charles A. Hill of Worcester, the only survivor of the family of children; three grandchildren, and numerous nephews and nieces.

The funeral was held at the residence on Tuesday afternoon and the children and son-in-law came to Norway with their father on his last journey.

Rents Are Needed

What are the citizens going to do with the rent and room question? Can Norway expand to meet new business, under the present housing conditions? The factories are groaning for more help, and many desirable families from surrounding towns would move here if accommodations were in sight. We have everything here to attract worthy people,—well organized churches, finely equipped schools the best stocked stores outside the cities, a beautiful lake, wide awake fraternal orders, up to date banks, and many other features which radiate from a live village organization. Rents are sorely needed and that right early. There never has been a greater call for desirable houses than to-day.

The owners, Carrigan & Gray of Lewiston, the syndicate operating forty or more picture houses, have changed the Savoy interior. The walls have been decorated in deep red with green grain wainescoating. The extensions to the stage have been removed and the picture screen set back several feet against the wall. Additional seats from Lewiston have been put in place, increasing the seating capacity to about 360.

Two new machines run by power and new equipment have been installed in the booth. This improvement will do away with the usual pause between reels.

A THOROUGH TEST

One To Convince the Most Skeptical Norway Reader.

The test of time is the test that counts. Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action.

The following case is typical.

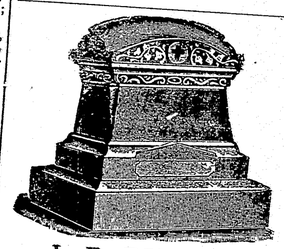

Norway residents should be convinced The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Wm. O. Needham, retired farmer, Main St., Norway, says: "At different times when I have taken cold, my kidneys have become affected. Several years ago when I felt that my kidneys needed attention, I got Doan's Kidney Pills from F. P. Stone's drug store. They strengthened my kidneys, ridding my system of the excess uric acid and in a short time I felt much better."

The above statement was given July 24, 1908 and on June 6, 1916, Mr. Needham said: "I still gladly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. My confidence in them is as strong as ever. I occasionally use Doan's when I feel in need of them and always get fine results.

THE OLD COUPLE

It stands in a sunny meadow,
The house so mossy and brown,
With its cumbrous old stone chimneys
And the gray roof sloping down.

The trees fold their green arms around it,
The trees, a century old;
And the winds go chanting through them,
And the sunbeams drop their gold.

The cowslips spring in the marshes,
And the roses bloom on the hill,
And beside the brook in the pastures
The herds go feeding at will.

The children have gone and left them,
They sit in the sunshine alone!
And the old wife's ears are failing,
As she harks to the well known tone

That won her heart in her girlhood,
That has soothed her in many a care,
And praisps her now for the brightness
Her old face used to wear.

She thinks again of her bridal—
How, dressed in her robe of white,
She stood by her gay young lover
In the morning's rosy light.

Oh, the morning is rosy as ever,
But the rose from her cheek is fled,
And the sunshine still is golden.
But it falls on a silvered head.

And the girlhood dreams, once vanished,
Come back in her winter time,
'Till her feeble pulses tremble
With the thrill of spring-time's prime.

And looking forth from the window
She thinks how the trees have grown,
Since, clad in her bridal whiteness,
She crossed the old door-stone

Though dimmed her eyes' bright azure,
And dimmed her hair's young gold;
The love in her girlhood plighted
Has never grown dim nor old

They sat in peace in the sunshine,
'Till the day was almost done;
And then, at its close, an angel
Stole over the threshold stone.

He folded their hands together—
He touched their eyelids with balm,
And their last breath floated upward,
Like the close of a solemn psalm.

Like a bridal pair they traversed
The unseen, mystical road,
That leads to the beautiful city,
"Whose builder and maker is God."

Perhaps in that miracle country
They will give her her lost youth back;
And the flowers of a vanished spring-time,
Will bloom in the spirit's track.

One draught from the living waters
Shall call back his manhood's prime;
And eternal years shall measure
The love that outlived time

But the shapes that they left behind them
The wrinkles and silver hair,
Made holy to us by the kisses
The angel had printed there

We will hide away 'neath the willows,
When the day is low in the west;
Where the sunbeams cannot find them,
Nor the winds disturb their rest

And we'll suffer no tell-tale tombstone,
With its age and date, to rise
O'er the two who are old no longer
In the Father's house in the skies

There are many more luxuries in France than in this country. Where anthracite coal is $80.00 a ton, butter $1.40 a pound, beefsteak $1.00 and up, eggs $1.60 a dozen and milk 20 cents a quart, these must all be reckoned as luxuries.

The wise people of the world are studying the question whether prices have risen or the value of currency has depreciated. But when we are paying 70 cents a pound for butter, it is not the reason as much as the fact which disturbs.

Sawmill Burned

The sawmill located near the residence of Appleton Hodge on the Livermore road, Canton owned by Alonzo G. Rich of Canton Point, burned at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 14th. The workmen had just left the mill, when the fire was discovered. The boiler was unhurt but the engine and carriage were considerably damaged. The machinery had just been repaired in good shape and a new saw put in. They had about 200,000 feet of lumber to saw and but little of it had been sawed. The lumber of Asa F. Campbell had been finished and they were at work on that of Rich and Wilkin's. Mr. Rich estimates the damage to be about $2,000, with no insurance. It will immediately be repaired or new machinery put in to finish sawing.

Fire caught several times during the day, but was extinguished. A wagon loaded with logs caught fire but a passing motor truck hauled it to safety, after one wheel had been damaged. The huge pile of sawdust is still burning.

This Corn Will Peel Right Off!

"Gets-It" Makes Corns Come Off The "Banana-Peel" Way!

Why have to flop on the floor, squeeze yourself up like the letter "Z", and with bulging eyes draw your face up into a wrinkly knot while you gouge and pull at the "quick" of a tender corn? That's the old, savage way. "Gets-It" is the modern, painless, simple way. Lean over and put two drops of "Gets-It" on the corn, put your stocking and shoe right on again, and forget the corn. Pain is eased. "Gets-It" has revolutionized the treatment of corns. It never irritates the true flesh. You'll stop limping on the side of your shoe, and do away with greasy salves, bundling bandages, thick plasters and painful methods. Use "Gets-It", it's common sense.

"Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'f'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

"Sold in Norway and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by F. P. Stone."

Music Will Help You

To Harmonize
Yourself with your condition
Your work with your pleasure
Your Family with your home.

MUSIC will help you to live your life so as to get the most out of it, to do your work so you can put the most into it, and it will help every member of your family as it helps you.

We have just passed through strenuous times. Music carried us over the rough places, kept our hearts up and our nerves steady. The whole nation worked with a will, worked together and accomplished its purpose to the rhythm of music. And the rhythm of music will never pass out of our lives. It will be waiting for us at the end of a hard day's task, it will bring us rest when rest is what we need. It will add to our gaiety when we want the brightness to sparkle. It will fill the empty chair when we are lonesome. It will bring us quiet contentment, rich enjoyment, solid comfort according to our desire and the need of the moment.

Yes, it will help every one of us over stony paths and along the broad highway. And it will help each member of our family, for it developes that community of interest, that bond of unity so valuable to a Family or to a Nation.

See that Music brings its blessings to You and Your Fmily.

WORMS MAKE SICK CHILDREN

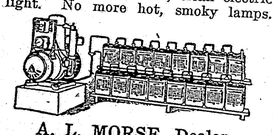

Signs of worms in children are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

The safe method for ridding the child of worms is to use Dr. True's Elixir. Mrs. William G. Bonin, of Caddo, Oklahoma, wrote regarding Dr. True's Elixir, "We have used it for our children for the last twelve years and certainly know the value of it." You can buy Dr. True's Elixir wherever medicine is sold. Pleasant tasting—gentle acting. The family laxative and worm expeller for children and grown folks.

SOLDIER'S LETTER

Mrs. Edmund Harlow has received the following letter from the commanding officer of the company in which her husband belonged. Mr. Harlow died in France, Feburary 27th of spinal meningitis and bronchial pneumonia.

Mr Harlow entered the service from Norway.

American Expeditionary Forces, Camp Montoir A. P. O. 701, Co. O. 21st Engineers.

France, April 30, 1919.

My dear Mrs. Harlow:— with great regret we have just learned of the death of your husband from a copy of the Portland Telegram which was received by one of our men in our company. It was quite a shock to us as he was transferred to the Infirmary at Abainville (Meuse) just prior to our departure from that station and from the date shown in the newspaper his death occured a few days after the company had left Abainville.

Private Harlow was loved and respected by all members of the company, and was always willing, and did his share of the duties. On this account I detailed him to duty with the Salvation Army hut at Abainville, as it was very necessary to have a man who was honest and could be depended on.

I know it is hard to lose one who is dear to you, but you will always have the memory that he died in the service of his country, being a true, loyal and faithful soldier.

There was never an order issued to him by any of the officers or non-commissioned officers which he did not willingly, cheerfully and promptly obey.

Myself and the entire company wish to express our deepest and most sincere sympathy to you and regret very much that we were not officially notified of his death so that some members of the company could have attended his funeral.

With best wishes, I am very respectfully,
Charles D. Darragh, 1st Lt. Engrs., U. S. A. commanding.

The soldiers' reception, which was held Tuesday evening of last week, was a great success. MAKE LABOR FASHIONABLE

One prominent American editor sounded a vital note when he suggested our people should "make economy fashionable." That was a wise suggestion and one that should be heeded by professional high livers. But to it we wish to add this advice: Make Labor Fashionable!

Put the two virtues side by side in double harness all over this country during the days that are coming, and the United States will easily come into her own.

Seek to disguise it as we may, our country, when this war began, was fast drifting toward a loafers' paradise. Thousands of our young men have been reared in idleness, with not the faintest conception of the true dignity of manual labor. Starting with sons of wealthy parents, it extended downward in the scale of society, as class after class attempted to imitate those financially above them, until not only was there among all classes a physical aversion to honest toil, but the very idea seemed to carry with it a sense of inferiority and degradation.

Aside from the deplorable causes producing it the national campaign of production is the salvation of our country in more ways than just that of providing food for the world. It will make useful citizens of boys who were fast becoming degenerates from the need of a serious object in life. It will give vital force to the academic teaching of the honor and dignity of labor. It will toughten muscles long unaccustomed to exertion, and will transform weaklings into that which the Almighty intended they should be men, vital, forceful, red blooded men.

No great forward stride of any people is ever accomplished without great sacrifice. When our revolutionary fathers conceived the vision of a great nation that should exemplify to the world the blessings of peace and liberty, they made great sacrifices, and made them willingly. Until the entrance into the war their decendants were in danger of losing sight of that grand vision through the curse of too great plenty of the creature comforts.

But we are awake at last. True, it took a world-wide calamity to arouse us; but once aroused, we are going to take a different view of man and his mission.

BIRDS IN WAR TIME

A writer in a London magazine tells us that at first the birds of France and Belgium were panic-stricken by the war. Six or seven months after the war began an unusual number of birds were observed in England of species which at the same time had become very scarce in France.

But after a few months the birds, just as soldiers do, adapted themselves to the condition of war. They came near to the armies with greatest confidence. Ground birds made their nests and reared their young in thistle patches in No-Man's-Land.

The trenches became overrun with rats and mice, and consequently owls and kestrels (a species of hawk) made their appearance and hunted fearlessly in the trenches themselves. And the kestrels sometimes built their nests in the barbed wire entaglements.

A lark in one of the severest bombardments at Verdun hovered above the French troops and sang cheerfully. The birds seemed to become accustomed to the sound of heavy artillery and to pay it little attention. Different birds called to give warning of the approaching of airplanes. They evidently heard the sounds of the planes before human ears could distinguish them.

Storks became interested in the airplanes and would sometimes alight on the machines that were coming down from a flight.

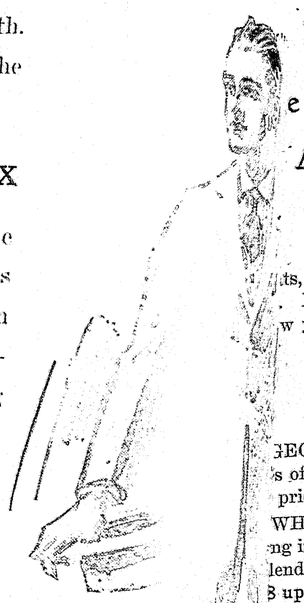

The birds which so bravely endured the terrors of war will probably be delighted to have their homes in peace again.

GOOD ONIONS AND SOUND CARROTS

There is a man in Orono who makes a practice of visiting the Entomological office at the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station each spring and boasting about the fact that he gets good onions every year now and that his carrots and parsnips do not show the rusty trails of maggots, whereas most of his neighbors can hardly harvest enough of these vegetables to feed the family after the maggots have eaten what they want.

Now, this Station has never conducted any experiments in spraying for onion or carrot pests, and as our boastful visitor confesses he never uses such a scientific safeguard as a check we must take his remedies only for what they appear to be worth;—namely a trial by those interested in seeing if they can secure the same results.

There is no patent on the remedy and it can be mixed with little trouble by anyone. It is based on the observation that many flies are attracted to the sweet substance and the entomological fact that the maggots so troublesome in onions and carrots and parsnips hatch from eggs that are laid by flies. Obviously if said fly can be doped before the eggs are laid there can be no maggots. If the reader of this has had losses in the past years from the onion or carrot maggots by all means try the poison sweetened spray. It takes but little time to apply and is inexpensive.

The poison bait mixture is a pint of molasses, an ounce of sodium (or potassium) arsenate and 4 gallons of water. Dissolve the poison in a little hot water, and add it and the molasses to the remainder of the water. Apply cold, and at occasional small spots. A hand spray pump is convenient and is necessary for a large field. But in the garden a watering pot with a not too coarse nose can be used. Or the poison can be sprinkled by a whisk broom or other device from which the taken up liquid can be shaken off on the ground. Apply just as the seedlings break through the ground and every 10 days thereafter up to the middle of July.

As this is a bait spray it is not necessary to apply it directly to the leaves and as it contains a soluable poison it might injure your plant if you did. If the fly feeds upon this substance it will die and if the fly dies the vegetables will live free from the maggot attack.

It might be added that certain members of the station staff who have home vegetable gardens of their own have come to think that there is either a natural sequence in the circumstance that sprayed gardens yield sound onions and carrots or that the coincidence has continued for a strangely long series of years.

Woman Seriously Burned

Mrs. Oliver Croteau of Paris Hill is in a serious condition from burns which she received by her clothing catching fire from the kitchen stove.

The family lives on the Drake farm in the Whitemore district. Mr. Croteau was away at work and Mrs. Croteau was alone except for a small child. Her screams ere heard by Mr. Tuttle who lives across the street. When he entered the house, three rooms were on fire. He extinguished the fire and sent for a physician to attend Mrs. Croteau. Her outer clothing was nearly all burned off and it is not certain that she will recover.

BOOKS OF THE FUTURE

During the past three or four years the great call has been for war books among buyers of the world. Almost anything dealing with the war had a fairly ready sale and the market was flooded with personal narratives, opinions, and detail descriptions of the events in progress, as well as defenses of the various nations under arms. In the congestion which accompanied this craze the special story writers on the newspaper either had to discuss war topics or take a back seat. The old books which have been standards of literature for generations were pushed to the rear of the shelf to make way for the modern war volumes.

Now that the war is over, however, things are beginning to have a different appearance. The war book still has a tremendous hold and will continue to do so for a long time to come, but the call will be more for something of the historical character, something that will add light to the causes of the conflict, and its effects on world history. With the censorship removed interesting stories on important incidents in connection with the great struggle will find ready readers. But slowly and surely the old stand-bys will come to the front again, the poets once more will become the companions of their old friends, standard books will again be read including the old masterpieces. Novels undoubtedly will return to popularity and probably hundreds of them will deal with the romance of the war, a subject which has unlimited possibilities.

It is sincerely to be hoped that some of the old hackneyed subjects will disappear at least for a time so that we may have a rest from them. Let us get away as much as possible from the horrors of the conflict and talk of peace. The quiet and beautiful hills, valleys, lakes and coast line of Maine have always been a magnificent setting for splendid works of fiction. Let us have more of these. Let the old New England character return, as well as the rough and ready but ever gallant Western type, and the courteous men and women of the South. The war is over so let us be kept away, as much as possible from thoughts of the sorrow it caused us, from its tragedy, and from its tales of destruction. Let peace reign not only among the people of the world but let its spirit dominate our literature that we may return to thoughts of harmony and happiness.

LIBERTY LOANS AND CONSERVATISM

The events of the last four years have shaken the foundation of social structures. So say the lecturers.

They are right, in the main. But the final result may be increased stability.

The Liberty loans have made bondholders of nearly everybody. So much money has been invested that industrial corporations in need of money have been compelled to issue bonds in hundred-dollar denominations. Baby bonds at six and seven per cent have been offered by automobile and packing concerns and utilities of various kinds. And small investors are grabbing all they can. Watch them line up when new issues go on sale.

Tinkers, tailors and truck-drivers are gradually becoming the mortagees of the big corporations. Billion-dollar debts are held by millions of bricklayers, carpenters and plasterers. And it is perfectly safe money.

Here is the strongest bulwark against bolshevism. The masses will hardly want to wreck industrial enterprises of which they are themselves the creditors.

HOW THE CANNERIES HAVE CANNED

When with our entry into the war the government called for more canned foods, how did the country respond?

Our farmers, always patriotic, raised more vegetables than ever, and the canning plants took care of them. They formed the link between the production of the farm and the needs of the government.

The amounts which the government required for the army were stated in terms of millions of cans.

For instance, the 1918 tomato pack was 480 million cans, of which the government took 45 per cent. In order to produce this quantity the canning plants put in many improvements which conserved labor and increased output.

And the harvesting of the tomatoes outrun the farmers' possibilities, in many localities townspeople turned in and helped save the crop.

Wisconsin is the region for peas, and produced the greater part of the 1918 pack of 288 million cans, of which the government took a like proportion.

Canned baked beans and canned fruits were produced in quantities and fish canneries ran day and night.

Farmers and canners must work equally hard this year, for after the army is demobilized the starving nations of Europe will require all that we can spare for them.

PLANT MORE VEGETABLES

The National War Garden Commission is making an appeal to the American people to plant more vegetables to make up for the loss here of fruits due to the spring cold wave. "With probably losses in fruit for canning, gardeners must look ahead to next winter and plant more vegetables so that the supply for canning may be increased," says the appeal.

MAY TERM OF COURT

The May term of court at Rumford, which opened on Tuesday, May 13 was devoted largely as usual to organization and call of the docket. A trial list was made out which indicated that more than usual time would be required to dispose of it.

Tuesday afternoon there was a memorial service for Mayor Lucian W. Blanchard of Rumford and Cecil E. Brown of Norway, members of the Oxford bar, both of whom died during the past year while in the United States servic.

The grand jury completed its work on Tuesday, and reported and was discharged.

Frank Jannacci, "Big Frank," the fruit man, nuisance.
Walter Latman, carrying concealed weapons.
Frank Burkus, uttering.
Fred Prue, Rumford gambling nuisance.
Ernest Marchand, Rumford, larceny.
William Hamilton, assault and battery.
Paul Sweet, forging and uttering.
Three boys, 10 to 14, Vincent Morrison, Dante Forni, Frank Forni of Rumford, breaking and attempting to commit larceny, it being alleged that these boys entered the Pettingill schoolhouse.
Leon Knapp, breaking, entering and larceny.

All of the Wednesday forenoon session and a portion of the afternoon was devoted to naturalization matters. Out of about seventy-five applicants about forty were admitted as citizens, mainly from Rumford.

The first case tried was that of C. V. Richards of Mexico against the American Realty Co., to recover the sum of about eight thousand dollars claimed to be due on a lumber contract. After about a day and a half occupied in taking up the evidence, it appeared that the issue was matters of law and not of fact, the case was taken from the jury to go to the law court.

The following verdicts have been returned: Matthew McLeo vs. Luther M. Hodgdon, an account annexed, for plaintiff. Charles Levine vs. John Orino, to recover damages for water coming thru roof Aug. 8, 1917, and damaging goods; verdict for defendant. Willis Ladd, Rumford, keeping intoxicating liquors, not guilty; Ernest Merchant, larceny, not guilty.

The last of the civil cases to be tried was disposed of Wednesday.

John Wiscont tried on the charges of maintaining a liquor nuisance, was found guilty. Willis Ladd, charged with keeping and depositing intoxicating liquors, in violation of the law, was found not guilty. Ernest Marchand, tried on a larceny charge was found not guilty.

A horse case in which Charles W. Walker was the plaintiff and S. W. Winter the defendant, attracted considerable attention. Hon. John P. Swasey was counsel for Walker and Judge A. E. Stearns appeared for Winter. A verdict of $397.75 was returned for Walker.

BUCKFIELD

Mrs. Etta E. Teague

The death of Mrs. Etta E. Teague of Buckfield occurred on Thursday evening last at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Hodsdon, Auburn. Mrs. Teague was born in Buckfield, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Jordan, on September 16, 1851. At the age of 16 she was married to Charles Teague of Turner, who died 16 years ago.

Mrs. Teague was in failing health for over three years, but after January 1 of this year she grew steadily worse, up to her death last week. Her funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 1. 30 from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Hodsdon. Rev. A. D. Paul officiated. The interment will be in Turner village.

There are only two near relatives surviving Mrs. Teague—her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Hodsdon, and her granddaughter, Grace Hodsdon, also of Auburn.

BETHEL.

Wm. R. Chapman Sued

The case of Harry A. Furbish of Rangeley against Prof. William R. Chapman of Shelburne, N. H., opened Wenesday in the Franklin S. J. court before Judge Dunn. This is a suit to obtain five per cent commission for the sale of growing trees on 1915 acres of land owned by Prof. Chapman at Bethel. Mr. Furbish claims he was to receive the five per cent commission if the sale was made by Aug. 13, 1918; that Chapman agreed to sell the standing trees at $12.30 a thousand, on about 12 million feet of lumber; further that when Furbish made the sale Chapman agreed to pay five per cent, and it was understood that Prof. Chapman was to receive pay for a million and a half of trees, amounting to about $20,000.

Mr. Furbish says he made a trade with Waldo Pettingill and two others to sell at $13 and notified Mr. Chapman. The latter replied: "I think I can get $15. I have been talking with Lewiston parties," and he refused to sell.

Mr. Furbish, therefore could not effect the sale and now claims commission.

Scoutmaster, Fred A. Tibbetts and the Bethel Scouts will go to Andover, Friday afternoon to attend the annual rally of all the troops in the county. They will camp over night, and the next day will be given over to exhibitions of scouting and athletic events. The people of Andover will entertain the troops at dinner in the town hall.

Edith Sopher has returned to the Academy after two weeks spent with her mother in Lynn, Mass.

There was a pretty wedding service at the residence of Rev. J. H. Little, Monday evening, May 19th, when Elmer Ingalls Bean and Eglean Lillian Thompson were united in marriage with the double ring service. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith and Mrs. Ina May Bean attended the wdding.

STAMPING OUT ILLITERACY

The actual percentage of illiterates within the draft age was 24.6. In other words, one out of every four could neither read nor write. Americans have prided themselves on their educational system, but the draft showed that no country had such a staggering percentage of aliens and illiterates. Being able neither to read nor write, these illiterates had little or no opportunity to know and appreciate American principals, ideas or government.

Through the mammoth school system that has been established overseas, the War Department is doing its part to stamp out this illiteracy. Of an army of approximately one and a quarter million young men in France on April 15, 210,000 had been enrolled in the army schools, 130,000 of them in the elementary schools, where they were being taught the rudiments. More than 50,000 who had been taught the elementary principles were in divisional or secondary schools.

Each club in the county is expected to send the president and secretary of its club to meet at the home of Mrs. Sturtevant in Dixfield on Tuesday afternoon, June 3rd. The object of the meeting will be to organize and to make arrangements for membership, the election of officers, committees, the constitution, by-laws, program, and to appoint the time and place of meeting. The cobblers league opened officially at the fair grounds Monday evening. The teams selected for a curtain raiser were the making and cutting rooms of the Carroll-Jellerson Shoe Co. Clifford C. Frost's 1909 four cylinder Ford run about is an example of the wearing qualities built into articles before the war. The engine shows very little wear, and during the four years he has handled the car, not a tire has been changed. Clifford has given it big mileage too.

LOCAL PICKUPS

"In my bright lexicon of youth
There was no such word as "Fail,"
And in those days I was quite sure
I had the old world by the tail.
But now that I know thrice as much
As I did then, I heave a sigh,
And, looking back, I wonder how
In thunderation I got by!"

Street sprikler is a red devil.

When will the trolley cars run?
Ask Gene Swett, he knows,
Or Henry Foster, who ought to know.
I don't know but am hoping.

Mother has a vanity-box with a gold chain and ring on it and a looking-glass in it. She can wear it on her finger and when tired of the passing show, can look at herself. It was a present and she is very proud of it, but up to now hasn't fully decided what to do with it.

Goodness is not the test of a man. It's sense, energy, ambition, industry and "intuitive perception" that counts. Goodness is good-for-nothing when not backed by aggressive action, fairness, justice, temperance and industry. Simply to be good amounts to nothing. Did you ever try it?

"Jack" has become old and useless much like his folks. He thinks he is terrible smart when he sees a squirrel on the fence, but he soon tires of the chase and lays down and allows the squirrel to make fun of him. That is my condition.

He tells us not to give his name and we won't. He said, "I once wanted a wife. I used your want column and got one and turned down several others."

Phinneas Jaques gives permission for us to quote him once more. He says: "The much advertised War Relic Train was of no earthly good as a public rousements as it didn't rouse. It was: 'Don't crowd, single file, pass on, we'll leave in 15 minutes!' No bombs thrown or cannon fired. A collection of junk lauded over by some tired men who were in a hurry to get away."

Laconia Democrat: "Portsmouth farmers, who have been experimenting with the thick milk white liquid which trickles down among the layers of corn stalks in their silos, are not worrying about national prohibition or even cider. It is hinted that the liquid product of the silo has more kick than a mule and that its effects hang over for about twelve hours. One has only to adulterate the glycerinelike substance, and then filter it to have an ordinary bottle of jag-producer backed clear off the map. Farmers down in that section of the state are already planning to enlarge their silos and build more of them."

Professor Nicholas Flat-head: "Women are intended to suffer pain. Men are intended to toil. All are intended to die. That's the nice mess humanity inherits because Adam and Eve had no sense."

"It's queer that Adam and Eve were not happy, for they had no mother-in-law, no father-in-law, no sister-in-law, and no profiteers. Adam and Eve had a pudding and threw it away. Their pet snake was their ruin.

"A man who won't drink, chew or smoke even if his associates make fun of him is a brave man. Which remark recalls an old story: A young man was invited to drink. He refused. He was invited to smoke. He refused. "Do you eat hay?" one smart-alec asked. "I do not," said the young man. At that the smart-alec laughed in derision, and screamed: "What do you know about this guy! He doesn't smoke, drink, chew or eat hay. He isn't fit to associate with either man or beast." It was a clever remark, but the young man, who was the butt of the joke was brave, nevertheless, and probably became a more useful citizen than the young man who tried to humiliate him."

FISH NOTES AND COMMENT

Harrington Flint, who owns the telephone lines in this vicinity, and Roy Pratt visited a brook in Albany and got seven trout recently. It was "the loviest brook for fishing in the world, but water was too high." The catch probably weighed 16 ounces.

More big trout come from Lombard Brook than any other stream in this vicinity. For a hundred years it has yielded big fish. They grow less each year, but have not as yet become extinct. Will Bicknell recently went there and brought back ten that weighed 3 1-4 pounds. He was away from home less than three hours. I was there on the 15th and saw seven good trout dart out from hiding, besides the two I got. I lack the pussyfoot skill of capturing such shy fish. Fully fifty trout have come from this brook this season.

Bob Seavey, at the Beals Tavern, sells shipping tags for the export of trout, salmon and togue. They cost one dollar each.

John McKay got a trout from the lake that weighed 2 pounds; Phil Young, 1 3-4 pounds; Frank Herrick, 2 1-2 and Asa Frost, one. Others were taken who failed to see your reporter.

F. W. Sanborn has quit brook fishing and started for Middle Dam where he expects to get some worth-while trout. A report may be expected next week.

Mrs. Mary W. Gray of Harrison will be the Memorial day and week-end guest of Mrs. George A. Brooks.

A. L. Cook is putting in a hot water heating plant at his residence on Pleasant street.

Mrs. Florance Hall of Augusta is the guest of her sister, Mrs. James N. Favor of Pleasant street.

James H. Dyer and sister of Portland with his chauffeur, James Kennedy and wife, have been the guests for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. French of Pleasant street.

The Norway-Waterford-Oxford Union School Board held their annual meeting at the Norway Municipal Court rooms, Thursday forenoon, May 15th and elected William F. Jones chairman of the board, and Hugh Pendexter secretary. It was voted to continue the present Union as it stands for two years. True C. Morrill was unanimously re-elected superintendent for one year with an increase in salary.

Mrs. Jennie Haynes of South Waterford has been the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. Jason Marr.

Vern Webber has sold his place on Summer street to George Goff.

Frank Moulton of Falmouth Foreside was the recent guest of his cousin, Mrs. Cyrus Tucker.

Mrs. George P. Locke is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. William Stanton in Boston.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

May be Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — This Letter Proves It.

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"During the thirty years I have been married, I have been in bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if the organs in my whole body were worn out. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all my housework and advise all ailing women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will guarantee they will derive great benefit from it."—Mrs. FRANK FITZGERALD, 25 N. 41st Street, West Philadelphia, Pa.

There are thousands of women everywhere in Mrs. Fitzgerald's condition, suffering from nervousness, backache, headaches, and other symptoms of a functional derangement. It was a grateful spirit for health restored which led her to write this letter so that other women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done.

For suggestions in regard to your condition write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

After many weeks with no word from his family, Sam Isaacson received a letter Monday from his wife in Rudoskovitz, state of Vilno, Russia. His wife, two children and his father had survived the political turmoil and famine, but anxious for the day when they could join him in America. About a year ago word reached Mr. Isaacson that the family had been massacred by the Cossacks, fortunately they escaped before the inhabitants of the town were put to death.

Mrs. C. E. Sawin went to Pappoose Pond, East Waterford, Thursday, where she will spend the summer.

Thirty-eight shoe cutters, exclusive of linings and trimmings are now employed at the Carroll, Jellerson Shoe Co. This is the largest crew carried by the firm since their organization. Better than 200 dozen pairs are being cut each day, and it is reported this clip will hold out until August or later. It is said this brisk run is based only on orders at hand and not business pending.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

The successful business man must base his life upon honor and integrity. Beyond and outside of these, he must have the compound of initiative, aggressiveness, determination, practicability and vision which America, in her love for condensation, has chosen to style "pep." The successful, wide awake and progressive town must possess the same qualities. It must have judgment to realize that its prosperity and growth depend on the home advantages and business advantages which it can offer. And it must have vision enough to see that expenditures which secure these advantages are not an extravagance, but an asset.

Money spent in local improvements such as public buildings, schools, good roads, sewers, city water, gas and electric light, is money well spent. Undertaking any of these improvements is like making an excellent investment, which is bound to return dividends. The gain to the town reacts to the comfort and benefit of every citizen.

Who wants to live in a town without "pep," a town which drags out its monotonous existence without growth or improvement? When the question of a local improvement comes up, stand behind it, "boost" it, work for it, vote for it. Install local improvements, and you will see your town sought by business enterprises and manufacturing.

It is up to you. Stand up for local improvements first, last and all the time, and you will help make your home town a desirable place of residence and a progressive business center.

The Treasury Department has been urged to coin a half-cent piece. If the petitioners can point to anything that can be bought for a half-cent now-a-days, the Treasnry will probably give their request some consideration.

THE FRIENDLY TOBACCO

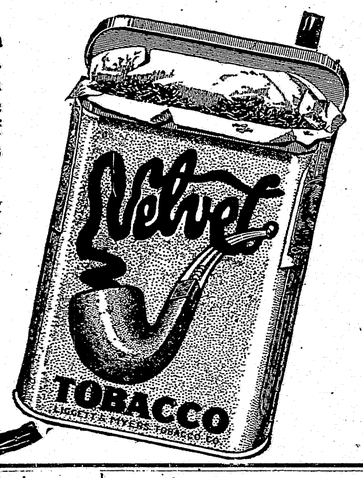

"Friendly" is a very good word to describe the positively pleasing quality that sets VELVET tobacco apart.

There is that indescribable something about VELVET that is associated in men's minds with the thought of a friend.

It is a satisfying smoke—never harsh; without a bite. Like a friend it "agrees" with you no matter how much you use it.

Long, patient ageing—in wooden hogsheads—does it. Friendship must ripen slowly. Good tobacco the same way. An army of men have learned this through VELVET.

Today is a good time to get a lot of comfort out of a pipeful of friendly VELVET.

OXFORD

Drowned in Little Androscoggin

The body of Charles E. Hackett of Mechanic Falls, who disappeared in that town about five weeks ago was found floating in the Little Androscoggin river, near Littlefield's Tavern, Auburn, about 10.30 Monday morning. The body had been in the water a long time.

Mr. Hackett was born in the town of Oxford 48 years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hackett. When a young child, the family moved to Mechanic Falls, where he has since lived. He was a great lover of horses, and has worked as a teamster for many years. He also has worked as a woodsman in the woods winters, and at different corn packing establishments during the canning season.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Minnie K. Martin, and by one sister, Mrs. Clara Pulsifer, both of Mechanic Falls. His father died about 20 years ago. Mr. Hackett was never married.

The Centenary drive for 105,000,000 for missions and reconstruction work was launched in every Methodist pulpit, Sun-May 18th. Rev.
